STATEMENT OF ATTORNEYS FOR APPLICANT REGARDING PERMANENCE AND AVAILABILITY OF DEPOSITED MICROORGANISMS

Commissioner for Patents
P.O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

Sir:

We, attorneys for the Applicants in the above-captioned application, declare and state that:

1. We represent Millennium Pharmaceuticals, Inc., co-assignee of the above-captioned patent application, having a place of business at 40 Landsdowne Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139.
2. On June 6, 1995, E. Coli strain FCHD523 carrying plasmid pFCHD523 that contains the entire coding region of rchd523, has been deposited with the Agricultural Research Service Culture Collection (NRRL), 1815 North University Street, Peoria, Illinois, in compliance with the Budapest Treaty on the International Recognition of the Deposit of Microorganisms for the Purpose of Patent Procedure, on behalf of Millennium Pharmaceuticals, Inc. The deposited microorganism was assigned accession number B-21458.
3. For the clone strain and plasmid referred to in paragraph 2, the deposited biological material is the same biological material identified as FCHD523 in the above-identified application as filed.
4. We hereby assure the United States Patent and Trademark Office and the public that:

(a) access to the biological material will be available to the Commissioner during the pendency of the patent application or to one determined by the Commissioner to be entitled to such biological material under 37 C.F.R. § 1.14 and 35 U.S.C. § 122;

(b) all restrictions on the availability to the public of the biological material referred to in paragraph 2 will be irrevocably removed upon issuance of a United States patent of which such biological materials are the subject;

(c) the biological material will be maintained for a period of at least five years after the most recent request for the furnishing of a sample of the deposited biological materials was received by the NRRL and, in any case, for a period of at least 30 years after the date of deposit;

(d) a test of the viability of the biological material at the time of deposit has been made pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.807; and

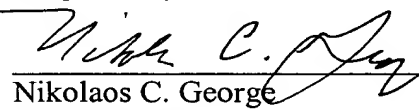

(e) should the deposited biological material become non-viable, they will be replaced by the Assignee.

5. Attached hereto as Exhibit 1 is the deposit receipt, viability statement, and accompanying cover letter, dated June 12, 1995 from the NRLL, demonstrating that E. Coli strain FCHD523 carrying plasmid pFCHD523 that contains the entire coding region of rchd523, and having accession number B-21458, was deposited on June 6, 1995, and found viable when tested on June 12, 1995.

6. We hereby declare further that all statements made herein of our own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true and further that we make these statement with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under § 1011 of Title 18 of the jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.

Respectfully submitted,

(Reg. No.)

(a) access to the biological material will be available to the Commissioner during the pendency of the patent application or to one determined by the Commissioner to be entitled to such biological material under 37 C.F.R. § 1.14 and 35 U.S.C. § 122;

(b) all restrictions on the availability to the public of the biological material referred to in paragraph 2 will be irrevocably removed upon issuance of a United States patent of which such biological materials are the subject;

(c) the biological material will be maintained for a period of at least five years after the most recent request for the furnishing of a sample of the deposited biological materials was received by the NRRL and, in any case, for a period of at least 30 years after the date of deposit;

(d) a test of the viability of the biological material at the time of deposit has been made pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.807; and

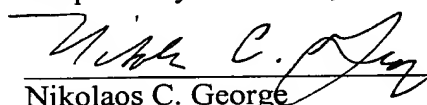

(e) should the deposited biological material become non-viable, they will be replaced by the Assignee.

5. Attached hereto as Exhibit 1 is the deposit receipt, viability statement, and accompanying cover letter, dated June 12, 1995 from the NRRL, demonstrating that E. Coli strain FCHD523 carrying plasmid pFCHD523 that contains the entire coding region of rchd523, and having accession number B-21458, was deposited on June 6, 1995, and found viable when tested on June 12, 1995.

6. We hereby declare further that all statements made herein of our own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true and further that we make these statement with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under § 1011 of Title 18 of the jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.

Dear Mr. Misrock:

Your check for $1,000 arrived on June 6 for the deposit under the Budapest Treaty of the below-listed strains into the ARS Patent Culture Collection. Therefore, I am now able to send you the International Receipt Forms (BP/4) and the Viability Statements for:

Name	Strain Designation	NRRL Number
Escherichia coli	FCHE523	B-21458
Escherichia coli	FCHE534	B-21459

Furthermore, insofar as is practicable in carrying out the business of the Department of Agriculture, we shall refrain from distributing progeny of these strains pending the issuance of the U.S. Patent to your company, with the exceptions, however, that: (1) Access to the progeny of these strains by other parties will be granted upon receipt of written authorization from your company specifying the name and Agricultural Research Service Culture Collection (NRRL) designation (NRRL number) of the strain and identifying the party who is to receive it; (2) with reference to 886 O.G. 638 progeny of these strains will be available during pendency of the patent application to one determined by the Commissioner of Patents to be entitled thereto under 37 CFR 1.14 of the Rules of Practice in Patent Cases and 35 U.S.C. 122; and (3) access to progeny of these strains shall also be granted under the conditions as stated in rule 11 (11.1, 11.2, and 11.3) of the Budapest Treaty. All restrictions on the availability of progeny of the strains to the public will be irrevocably removed upon the granting of the U.S. Patent(s) of which the strains are the subject. The strains will be maintained for a period of at least 5 years after the most recent request for the furnishing of a sample of the deposited microorganism by the Agricultural Research Service Culture Collection and, in any case, for a period of at least 30 years after the date of the deposit. During this period all care necessary shall be taken to keep these strains viable and uncontaminated.

I will send under separate cover our lyophilized preparations for these strains. As soon as you confirm the equivalency of these preparations to your original deposits, complete, sign, and return the original Viability Statements to me.

Sincerely,
